GHI Orders Aerial Survey, Reviews Financial Statement

by Claude Wimberly

Within the next few days low-flying aircraft will be criss-crossing Greenbelt on an aerial photography mission. They will be doing aerial mapping for Greenbelt Homes Inc., whose board of directors will use the photographs to aid them in setting up boundary lines and yard markers for GHI property.

At its regular meeting last Thursday night, the board authorized manager Roy Breashears to make arrangements for the survey. $500.00 was appropriated to get the job done. The board emphasized the necessity for quick action, as trees are starting to foliate. When they are fully leafed out, the trees obscure from the camera's eye important boundary markers. The indicators will be well-defined if the aerial photos are shot while the trees are still bare, board members stressed.

Manager Breashears, who has advocated the aerial photography for more than a year, said Tuesday the total cost of the survey is not expected to exceed the $500 figure approved by the board. The Greenbelt city council, which has expressed interest in obtaining aerial maps of the town, might be interested in obtaining copies of the GHI photos, Breashears said.

A spokesman for the manager said Tuesday that if the council were interested in them, the city could conceivably bear part of the cost of the project.

The photos will show a much greater segment of the Greenbelt area than just the GHI holdings, the spokesman noted.

Joe Cherry

It was disclosed at the Thursday night meeting that director Joe Cherry, on advice of his doctors, will not stand for re-election to the board this spring. Cherry has been seriously ill for some time. He will retain his seat on the board until the elections, now set for May 21. He expressed willingness to resign his post in a letter addressed to board chairman Charles Schwan. In the letter, the ailing director said he was confined to his home and would be unable to work for at least a year. The board unanimously rejected the proffered resignation. Schwan, echoing the sentiment of Cherry's colleagues, praised him for his service to the corporation. He lauded Cherry for his diligence, faithful attendance at board meetings, and declared Cherry's work represented an outstanding contribution to the community.

Financial

The manager reviewed the corporation's 1963 financial statement item-by-item for the board members, explaining the maze of figures and answering numerous questions. One group of figures in the report that stand out as of special interest to GHI homeowners, are the interest payments received from investments of corporation capital. This money, Breashears said, was interest paid GHI from deposits distributed among reliable investment firms from coast-to-coast. He told the board the GHI financial staff was continually seeking other similar investment opportunities with reputable financial institutions across the country.

Questioned later about the interest payments, comptroller Donald McGinn said use of income derived from the investments was a "definite factor" in the corporation's ability to hold the line on monthly charges to members despite steadily rising costs of materials, labor and other expenditures necessary to operate the organization efficiently.

The board also:

Heard an oral report from the chairman of the recently appointed ad hoc committee on zoning. Chairman Leo Gerton said a written report would be in the hands of the board members on Friday (the following day).

In his brief resume of committee findings, Gerton said the committee recommended GHI take immediate steps to defeat zoning petitions inimical to the interests of the corporation. In the committee's view, he added, this should be done whether the tract up for zoning is adjacent to GHI holdings, or within a broad area around Greenbelt. He stressed the importance of what he called "legal means" to defeat this type of zoning request.

Directed the sales department to notify future purchasers of GHI homes to clear with city authorities as to assignment of parking space in courts where parking is assigned residents on a restricted basis.

Received a report by George Adams, chairman of the committee on maintenance. Recommended were some minor changes to the by-laws. Also, the committee recommended GHI join the City's annual clean-up program.

Council Frowns On Spending Tax Funds for July 4th Fireworks Display

by Charles McDonald

City council met Monday night to tackle some of the problems left over from a week earlier — and wound up carrying part of the crowded agenda over to a still later date. One of the items arousing heated discussion and contributing to the delay was the question of expenditure of funds for the Fourth of July fireworks. of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., with the election to fill vacancies on the 9-

City manager James Giese brought up the issue when he told council that if the city planned to have its usual fireworks display at the lake this year, the fireworks would have to be ordered now. Several councilmen as well as several citizens attending the meeting questioned the advisability of spending tax funds for a 45-minute display.

Mrs. William Feller said she would prefer to see the money on much-needed sanitary facilities at Greenbelt Lake Park. Council decided not to appropriate funds — at least not now — and wait for the initiative to come from some local organization willing to sponsor such a display.

At the request of councilman David Champion, council requested the city manager to station a police officer at the intersection of Greenbelt Road and Southway Road each weekday from 7:15-8:15 a.m., to assist motorists trying to get on to Glen Dale Road.

Other items:

Council selected the firm of Emanuel & Pear as auditors for the 1963-64 fiscal year.

A report on the condemnation of the city warehouse property indicates the State Roads Commission is now considering other locations.

Council expressed no objection to the request for a special exception for Charles Bresler, developer, to build a nursing home along Greenbelt Road adjacent to the Armory, providing the city solicitor could assure the city manager that the exception would in no way disturb or violate the covenants now existing on this land.

Council also expressed no objection to the special exception for a gasoline service station on Greenbelt Road at 60th Street in the Beltway Plaza.

City manager was requested to write the developer of the Plaza for information on the progress of the road that eventually will connect Springhill Lake development with Greenbelt Road.

Action on the Jaeger zoning court decision was postponed until a later meeting.

City manager Giese was asked to amend a proposed policy program concerning the use of meeting rooms in the new municipal building. This, too, will be taken up later. It was generally agreed that such things as art exhibits and educational meetings should be permitted to use the rooms.

Another matter carried over to a later date involved the wooded area along Crescent Road opposite the Boxwood subdivision and adjacent to the Lake parking area. This land has been mentioned as a possible site for a new junior high school. Council hopes to discuss the matter with Mrs. Gwynn of the Prince Georges County School Board.

Another item dealing with the Greenbelt Lake Park was the extension of Lakecrest Road through the new Charlestowne Village subdivision. Bresler, the developer, said his plans did not contemplate the continuation of Lakecrest Road beyond the present Charlestown subdivision plans. The use of any additional right-of-way for the road extension, Bresler said, would take in part of the three-acre tract which he (Bresler) is expected to dedicate to the city for park purposes.

City manager was requested to present a recommendation to the next meeting of council.

GHI Annual Meeting, Election Tentatively Scheduled For May 20

A tentative date of May 20 has been set for annual meeting of Greenbelt Homes, Inc., with the election to vacancies on the 9-man board of directors to begin that night and continue throughout the next day. Confirmation of that date depends on the availability of the Center School auditorium. Alternate dates would be the following day or the day after.

There will be 6 directors elected this year — 4 for regular 2-year terms, and 2 for the 1-year remainder of unexpired 2-year terms created by the resignations of ex-president Harry Zubkoff and Hans Jorgensen. Incumbents whose two-year terms expire in May are: Edward Burgoon, Joseph Cherry, William Helm, and Nathan Shinderman (the latter having been elected by the board to replace Henry Brautigam, who resigned). Incumbents in Zubkoff's and Jorgensen's seats are Stephen Polaschik and Mrs. Jo Seay, respectively. Three board members have one more year to go on their 2-year term. These are president Charles Schwan, John O'Reilly, and Frank Lastner.

The elections and nominations committee has recommended that all candidates for the board run for the 6 open seats, with the top 4 candidates getting the 2-year terms and the next 2 candidates getting the 1-year terms. However, unless all candidates agree in writing, it will be necessary to have

Last Registration

For those who failed to do so on April 14, registration will be held at the County Service Building in Hyattsville on Friday, April 17 from 6 to 9 p.m. and also on Saturday, April 18, the last day to register before the primary, at the Court House building in Upper Marlboro from 8:30 to 4 p.m. separate races for the 2-year terms and for the 1-year terms.

There must be three persons elected to the audit committee; since the entire three-member committee is elected each year for a one-year term. Incumbent members are Mrs. Marge Bergemann and David Lange. Polaschik, the third member, resigned from the audit committee upon his election to the board.

How to Nominate

GHI members may be nominated for the board or for the audit committee either by petition signed by 10 members, or by the nominations and elections committee. In either case the candidate's consent to run must be signified by him or her in writing.

Members may get the requisite petition and consent forms from the five nominations and elections committee members: Mrs. Velma (Jeff) Chapman, 35-F Ridge; George Adams, 46-D Ridge; Mat Amberg, 6-E Hillside; Bev Fonda, 6-A Ridge; and Bill Hoff, 71-E Ridge. The committee has indicated that it is open to suggestions for board and audit candidates from the members. Nominations for the five one-year seats on the nominations and elections committee will be made only at the annual meeting. A nominations and elections committee does not supervise or conduct the nominations and election of its successor, the committee said.

Arts & Crafts Spring Show

The Greenbelt Arts and Crafts Guild will open its Spring Show on Sunday, April 19, with a 3 o'clock coffee reception. The exhibit will be open to the public from 3-5 p.m. on that day at the Twin Pines Office and will be on display there for the next few weeks.

The show will endeavor to show representative work of a number of the members with "one man" feature exhibits to be highlighted at a later date.

Members of the Guild are reminded to bring in the items to be exhibited to the Twin Pines Office on Friday evening, April 17.

Nursery School Bake Sale

The Greenbelt Nursery School announces a bake sale, to be held this Saturday starting at 10 a.m. at the Greenbelt shopping center, in front of Tanner's Cleaners. The mothers of the nursery schoolers will be using their favorite recipes, and the proceeds of the sale will help pay for the new chain link fence which now encloses the nursery school playground.

Concert by Agriculture Orchestra, April 19

The Agriculture Symphony Orchestra will perform on Sunday, April 19 at 3 p.m., in the auditorium of the Plant Industry Station at Beltsville. Works by Liszt, Beethoven and Berlioz, as well as the modern composers Clarke and Margrave, will be featured in the concert.

Lament for Greenbelt

(Reprinted in its entirety from the Washington Post, Wednesday, April 15, 1964)

Sadly betrayed by the Federal and local governments, the town of Greenbelt today is hardly more than a well-planned subdivision surrounded by large apartments. The original green belt, the wide band of heavy woods and open fields that gave the town its identity and character, has been turned into prime building sites.

As a notable example of the New Deal's experimentation, Greenbelt was vulnerable to changes in the political climate. In 1952, the Public Housing Administration sold the town, with its 708 acres of green belt, to a cooperative of residents and veterans. As naturally as water runs down hill, the open land has now found its way into the hands of builders. Much of the land has been rezoned; in view of the general collapse of zoning in Prince Georges County, all of it seems destined for transformation.

For many years the town's population was stable at about 7400. Within the last year it has reached 9000. Within the next half dozen years, it is expected to exceed 30,000. By the end of this decade, lamentably, the green belt will be one of the most densely populated pieces of real estate in the Washington suburbs.

What Federal myopia began, local myopia is now completing. The Federal Government retained 1100 acres of woods as a park, which it has now opened as a campsite. But a developer owns a large bite into the center of the park. Under a highly peculiar local law, which in effect gives the Circuit Court the final zoning authority in Prince Georges, Judge Bowie has given the developer permission to build high-rise apartments on the land that ought to be the heart of the park. The County Commissioners, characteristically, show no interest in appealing. A noble conception is being destroyed by official negligence.

RESIGNS IN INDIGNATION

To the Editor:

I recently resigned as a member of the Greenbelt Area Delegation to the Co-op Congress and as Chairman of the Congress' Customer Advisory Committee. The reasons for my resignation were largely personal and need not be mentioned here.

In my letter of resignation, I presented a series of criticisms of the Co-op in the hope that corrective action would be taken. Many of my friends have asked that I make public relevant portions of my resignation statement, particularly in view of the fact that the Greenbelt Area Annual Meeting of the Co-op is scheduled for April 23.

Following are some paragraphs excerpted from my letter of resignation.

We have in our cooperative way of doing business as consumers a way that is superior, that is revolutionary and radical in the true and basic meanings of those terms. But we have failed to imbue our members with this spirit . . .

We seek to compete on the basis of rules laid down by profit making enterprises and our essential differences have become dulled and obscured. We find palatable reasons for denying the membership access to information. Even the "chosen" members of the Congress are insufficiently trustworthy, apparently, so they are informed of basic decisions only after they are fact.

A proposal to make the Congress more truly representative was brought to the Congress by the Greenbelt delegation. It was listed as one of the pieces of unfinished business which the current Congress was to consider. It has never found its way on an agenda.

Information honestly sought is all too frequently refused. Questions honestly raised and politely put are all too frequently met with insult publicly inflicted to be followed by apology privately given.

But all these are not anywhere near as important as the fact that we have ignored the source of our basic strength — the members of our cooperative. Where we should have provided motivation, we have failed to do so. Where we should have gone to the membership with our problems, we have feared to take them into our confidence. In short, we have demonstrated that we fear the genius of cooperative democracy and have found it easier to honor the concept more in the breach than in the practice.

And here, I will make my final point and not impinge any further on your time. Our cooperative has sought to secure the interest and backing of labor union members. We have received considerable support from labor organizations and, for many years, even benefited from the deliberate dating of our labor contracts at a time which would not place us at a disadvantage.

St. Hugh's Dedication By Archbishop O'Boyle

His Excellency, The Most Reverend Patrick A. O'Boyle, Archbishop of Washington, will officiate at the dedication of St. Hugh's Catholic Church on Crescent Road Sunday, April 19 at 11:45 a.m. High Mass at 12:15 will follow the solemn dedication ceremony. All adult Greenbelt residents are invited to the dedication.

It was almost 17 years ago that Archbishop O'Boyle founded St. Hugh's as a parish, with Rev. Victor J. Dowgiallo as its administrator and later its Pastor. Father Dowgiallo celebrated the first Mass in the new parish in the "parlor" of the Rectory at 58-A Crescent Rd. That arrangement continued for two years, until the growth of the Sunday masses in the local theater. Early in November 1949 Mass was said for the first time in the newly-erected Parish Hall, where all Catholic religious services have been held until the opening of the new Church last fall.

Father Victor Dowgiallo, who has presided over the spiritual life of the Greenbelt Catholic Community since the founding of the parish, is still pastor of St. Hugh's. The Rev. Francis T. Flaherty is Assistant Pastor.

The design of the new St. Hugh's was inspired by the rural churches of Normandy, France, during the Romanesque period. It is rectangular in plan, with the front entrance facing Crescent Road, and is linked to the Rectory by an open breezeway. The entrance archway is limestone. Windows are of stained glass.

Church Interior

The interior of the Church is striking in its simplicity and spacious in effect. The Sanctuary is dominated by a marble High Altar backed by a wide, ceiling-to-floor blue and silver fabric curtain. Suspended from the top is a large bronze canopy equipped to illuminate the Altar below. Tabernacle and candlesticks are silver. Above the tabernacle hangs a cross and corpus carved in linden wood from Northern Italy. The Choir is located within the Sanctuary on the Gospel side and the altar boy stalls are on the Epistle side; the Sacristy is in back, screened off by an 8-foot-high walnut paneled partition. The nave seats 600 persons. Pews are African mahogany — contrasting with the creamy-white of the exposed brick walls.

In the rear of the Church low partitions of walnut panelling enclose the Confessionals. The Baptistry is on the right, and an open stairway on the left leads down to an auditorium which has a seating capacity of more than 500.

At a recent "Open Church Sunday" the parishoners of St. Hugh's were hosts to more than 120 visitors of many denominations, including Christian and Jewish clergymen, who were taken on tour of the new Church; vestments and sacred vessels were displayed for inspection and their uses and symbolism explained.

age. Indeed, our cooperative in its contract negotiations had received preferential treatment, at least in the timing of collective bargaining negotiations if not in some of the conditions agreed upon as well.

The fact is that we have expected preferential treatment from labor, we have sought and received memberships through the deliberate promotion of our cooperative by many trade unions in the area. In return, we have treated the labor movement as though it were the enemy of the consumers. We have been unconcerned as to the conditions under which products were manufactured or harvested. In short, we have expected support from union members on the one hand and purchased products of non-union manufacturers on the other. We have accepted the bounty of under paid workers — their lower living standards have subsidized us. We expect to receive, we do not wish to give. This is not cooperative democracy, it is not economic democracy, it is not respect and concern for individuals.

Albert K. Herling

G.C.S. CONGRESS

To the Editor:

Greenbelt Consumers Services on April 3 in the final meeting of representatives from all eleven branches of the Ninth Congress selected for five places on the Board of Directors five Congressmen as nominees. Of them Mrs. Roger E. Wheeler of Fairlington (Alexandria) will be new to the Board, David H. Scull of Falls Church served in earlier years, and Messrs. Cooper, Hoag and Rosenzweig are incumbents. Incumbents Weber and Besanski had declined renomination. Holdovers are Mrs. Morris Newman and Messrs. Dresel, Fahl and Hoke.

The five Congress nominees will be offered to the membership in June for ratification, without opposition, since no candidate has been nominated by petition of ten members. The five were chosen from seven candidates, who presented their qualifications and answered questions from the floor by four of the delegates.

Most of the questioning related to specifics in the letter of resignation of Albert Herling, a former Board member. Copies of the letter had been made by the executive committee of the Congress, and at discussion time could be had by any interested Congressman present. (The parts of the letter which were discussed appear elsewhere in this issue.) In answering, Rosenzweig asserted that GCS is 100% union. Later, in the concluding question and answer period, Mr. Hoag disagreed with some of Herling's conclusions, arguing in some detail.

By that period, additional questions, mostly to management, but also to Board Members Besanski, Hoag, Rosenzweig and Weber, were: 1) What has been the value of the Checci management contract to GCS? (by Philip Ritz, Wheaton) 2) What are the costs and the advantages to GCS of its New York World's Fair promotion? (by Myron Baum, Piney Branch); 3) What are the reasons for studied avoidance of the word "Co-operative" in most current advertising? (Nelson Bortz, Rockville); 4) What is being done about continued withering away of branch participation? (Carnie Harper, Greenbelt); 5) Why was no notice at all given to Greenbelt members when the delicatessen case there was discontinued? (Mat Amberg, Greenbelt). Additional questions were asked by Messrs. Behre, Scull, Harper, Bortz, Amberg, and Eschbach.

At the meeting a few more than a majority were present, thus avoiding last year's close risk of paralysis of the Congress nominating power.

Greenbelt Park Opens

L. Sutton Jett, Director of the National Capital Region, National Park Service, announces the opening of a new campground in the 1,100 acre Greenbelt Park. The new facility contains 50 "walk-in" sites for tent camping.

Each campsite is equipped with a picnic table and charcoal burner. A water supply and comfort facilities are nearby. Campers must park their cars in the parking lot and carry camping equipment into the wooded areas. Mr. Jett explained that the development of the site was completed this spring in response to an ever-increasing demand for campsites, particularly with so many families traveling through Washington enroute to the World's Fair in New York. The campground will be attended by a uniformed Park Ranger.

A much larger campground is scheduled to be developed in another portion of the park at a later date. Two other large picnic grounds, additional roads and parking areas and a visitor-nature center are also in the master plan for the park.

No reservations will be made for the new campsites. They will be used on a "first come, first served" basis and the limit of stay will be three days during periods of heavy use. There are no facilities for travel trailers or group camping.

Inquiries regarding the Greenbelt Park facilities should be directed to the National Capital Region, 1100 Ohio Drive, S.W., Washington, D. C. (telephone DUDley 1-7396).

"LOSS OF PRIVACY"

To the Editor:

On Tuesday, April 3, in Upper Marlboro, Maryland, at the County Courthouse, a Circuit Court hearing was held to decide the merits of Mr. Jaeger's request to build high-rise and row house dwellings for approximately 7500 people in an enclave in the Greenbelt Regional Park, the property having some frontage on Kenilworth Avenue. Mr. Jaeger permitted a profitable gravel pit operation in the property in question, and the resultant diggings leaves some question as to whether the land is now unsuitable for private home development, as his property is presently zoned for R-R (Rural Residential). The land is certainly not meant to be an apartment complex, projecting as it is in a peninsular-like two prong position into a Regional Park administered by the National Park Service. Although the city's solicitor mentioned in his opening remarks to the court that a man is entitled to the use of his own property, it has also been stated in previous court decisions that the good and welfare of all the citizenry must be of prime consideration in decisions of this nature. We must also consider the private home complex of the town of Berwyn Heights, which is directly opposite the proposed development of 7500 people. It was stated at the court hearing that the Kenilworth Avenue dual highway on which the Jaeger property has some frontage would provide a "proper buffer" between the apartment complex and the private dwellings which make up the town of Berwyn Heights. Somehow, this just doesn't make sense. The Regional Park, on the other side of the tract (and nearly surrounding it) provides literally a private forest preserve for the prospective tenants of the Jaeger tract. At the loss of privacy of the public users of the park the views from the high rise apartments should be fascinating (overnight camp grounds, picnic areas, nature trails and so on).

Several officials were engaged in private conversations relative to the merits of this case. One said that the park was "big enough", while a lawyer said (before the hearing began in a side room next to the court room) that "it wouldn't be so bad to have apartments in the middle of the park". Considering the source of this last remark one can only wonder about poor John Q. Public who is or allows himself to be at the mercy of such as this.

There is a bill in Congress at present to buy the Jaeger tract, but it will be nearly a year before it is extracted from the committee that now has it. However, if the property in question is zoned for high rise apartments the land would be out of price reach of the government. To preserve the present Rural Residential zoning classification would do more than pave the way for government purchase. It would mean that single family dwellings would be built there in the event that the committee in Congress does not see fit to purchase this tract to add to the Regional Park. Single family dwellings can well be landscaped to ensure the privacy of the users of the Park. Since the land in question did not of itself gouge its innards out for the gravel pit which was operated there, it should follow therefore that the owner of the land should not be granted high rise zoning because of the plea that it would cost too much to grade and restore the land for individual family dwelling use. This would be simply providing a means for profit to the owner and developer of the land in question with the public as the "injured party" or real loser.

We need this park for many reasons. We need it to provide privacy, quiet relaxation, haven from the commercial bustle, and most of all we need it to make a pleasant place not only for ourselves but for our children, who deserve to have something better. With the world's population increasing (including our own country's) at an explosive rate, green areas for public use and enjoyment will become of greater

A NET GAIN?

To the Editor

In the March 26, News Review it was reported that Greenbelt Homes, Inc. ended the year with a net gain of $42,500. Isn't that splendid? Included in this figure was a $31,500 "dividend" (rebate) from a 5 year fire insurance policy. The latter figure represents approximately 75 percent of the total "net gain". Precisely what form of accounting legerdemain was used to put an insurance rebate in the net gain column can only be deduced using a ouija board.

It is heartening to see that the leaders of our cooperative are approaching that hitherto base, lewd, lascivious condition known as "making a profit". Unfortunately in the year 1959, which will probably go down as the year of the colossal blunder, the Board of Directors in their infinite economic wisdom (heavily stained with politics) literally gave away 700 acres of land surrounding Greenbelt for the paltry sum of $140 per acre. The opportunity for any real profits was thus lost forever. Meanwhile the Board of G.H.I. has been doing a thumping good job of laying new plumbing into jerry-made frame buildings that are worth less than the land they are standing on. In any case let us be thankful for that, it is infinitely better than the woolly-headed scheme for a geriatric ghetto proposed some time back.

One cannot close without mentioning the courageous stand taken by the G.H.I. Board with regard to the Jaeger Tract imbroglio. Not wanting to embarrass one of its more important members (with a record of absenteeism approaching that of Representative Adam Clayton Powell), the Board instead of voting a resolution against the Jaeger Tract merely directed the membership to support the forces fighting the rezoning.

On the basis of such a record I urge all G.H.I. owner-members that bother to vote to reelect all the old incumbents that have been with us to these many years during the next election. Because, you see, they need us.

value to the public that uses them, and must therefore be wisely planned for and set aside.

It is hoped that the City of Greenbelt, the City of Berwyn Heights, and Mr. William Avrutis and Mr. Norris will bring this case to the Court of Appeals. The City Council of Greenbelt must take positive action to further its interest at the next City Council meeting.

A LITTLE ROCK GARDEN

by "Capability Brown"

The winter is past, the rain is over and gone, the flowers appear on the earth, and Greenbelt gardeners come forth from winter hibernation.

As we drive to work we have been admiring a little rock garden worked jointly by Mr. and Mrs. Allen Springer of 20-C Hillside and Mr. and Mrs. Johnson of 20-D. Their back yards slope sharply into a tree and laurel filled ravine. The area near the houses has been leveled and the sharp slope terraced with rocks by previous owners. Now, before the trees are leafed, the rocky terraces are filled with jonquills, narcissus, and hyacinths; later will come lilies, funkias, and other shade lovers.

Basically this is a simple, inexpensive garden, a good example of what happens when imagination is applied to an unlikely site — and when neighbors cooperate.

Annual G.C.S. Area Meeting

The annual area meeting of Greenbelt membership of G. C. S. will be held next Thursday, April 23 at the Jewish Community Center, Ridge and Westway. A chicken dinner will be served at 7 p.m., to be followed at 8 by the business meeting. One of the highlights of the meeting will be a report to members on the stewardship of the elected representatives and officials, and a managerial report. To represent these various aspects of stewardship, a panel will consist of Carrie Harper, local Delegation Chairman; Dr. John Stahle, Speaker of the Congress; Ben Rosenzweig, President of G.C.S., with Charles Blum, comptroller, representing the managerial staff. Opportunity will be given those present to ask questions and make suggestions relating to the organization and its present status.

Tickets for the dinner may be secured at the Co-op supermarket or the Co-op gasoline station, or from any member of the Delegation.

R. M. Dick, New Administrative Aide

by M. B. Smith

Greenbelt has a new employee in the new Municipal Building — Ronald M. Dick, administrative aide to City Manager James K. Giese.

Last fall City Manager Giese asked city council for help in his administrative workload. Mr. Dick, a 25-year-old graduate of the University of Maryland, with a Master's degree in history and government, was hired on a part-time basis in October 1963. He has worked full time since February.

Mr. Dick and his wife Pat, both of whom hail from Cumberland, Md., have been married for three years and have no children. They now live in Langley Park, but are house-hunting in Greenbelt. Mrs. Dick has been the City Clerk for the city of College Park for about a year. Before coming to Greenbelt, Mr. Dick worked for four months as an administrative aide to the city of College Park, making surveys on recreation and housing.

His previous experience also includes graduate work at the University of Maryland for the Municipal Technical Advisory Service, where he made surveys of city ordinances and charter revisions for towns in Maryland that requested such service.

How to save a small fortune with money you'd fritter away

You do it automatically on the Payroll Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Bonds

The average American would save about $20,000 during his working years if he tucked away just a dime from every dollar he earned. If he bought and held U.S. Savings Bonds, he'd have close to $40,000.

The big problem is how to save the dime. But it's no problem at all when you sign up for Savings Bonds on the Payroll Savings Plan where you work.

World's handiest savings plan

When you save on Payroll Savings, you just sign your name once. From then on your payroll clerk sets aside whatever amount you wish each payday, buys your Bonds, and delivers them to you. Millions of Americans are buying $2 billion in Savings Bonds yearly this automatic way for new homes, furniture, education, etc. What's more, they hold their Bonds an average of 7 years—and find the waiting well worthwhile.

Almost double your money back

U.S. Savings Bonds are guaranteed to grow. $1 becomes $1.33 in 7½ years—and $1.93 in 10 more years. You can get your money with interest anytime you need it. And the Treasury Department replaces your Bonds free if they're lost or destroyed.

Every Savings Bond you buy is a share in a stronger America. Get your shares the easy way... by joining the Payroll Savings Plan now.

U.S. Savings Bonds are theft-proof!
Fire-proof and loss-proof, too. Since 1941 the Treasury Department has replaced almost 1½ million Bonds at no cost to the owners.

On April 17 and 18 North End sixth graders in Miss King's and Mr. O'Laughlin's classes will be taking a trip to New York. Paige Powell told me that the class decided to go to the Music Hall and the U.N. building. Their other choice could have been the World's Fair but most of the youngsters felt that their parents would be taking them to the fair this coming summer. In preparation for the trip the classes have been studying leaflets, schedules, codes of dress and etiquette, etc. Have a good time kids!
